ZZZ-Notes: Your help is welcome in correcting and improving this index, but avoid wasting your time by considering these notes. I want to provide a functional source of information, not a perfectly edited work of literature. I would rather post this index with a few formatting errors that do not reduce its utility than spend days editing it (e.g., to change commas to semicolons and capitalize "rule") instead of editing new products. I'd rather list something twice than make it hard to find, so don't tell me to delete duplicates unless they are exactly the same. Sometimes I use commas, periods, or semi-colons; as long as all of a given type of entry (e.g., "Why") is the same, I don't care if why and background are not the same. There are some "blank" entries (e.g., Editorial, Ask Admiral Growler) which are there to help me add other issues, so don't tell me to delete them. If you see something that would amount to a "consistent fix" (i.e., 37 line items all saying to change a comma to a semi-colon) then send ONE line item and not 37 (and forgive me if I ignore it). Don't do Captain's Log issues not on the list as I want to do them myself. If you see some category of thing that I normally double-list or triple-list (the monster rules are infamous for this) and some are missing one kind of listing, don't hesitate to tell me. While we normally italicize product names, that wasn't done in this index because it is too much work and doesn't really matter for this index.
