

WORDS WOMEN USE

Advice For Men

Fine

This is the word women use to end an argument when they are right and you need to shut up. You should apologize, and quickly. Try “It’s not fine, because you’re right and I’m wrong. How can I fix this?”

Five Minutes

If she is getting dressed, this means a half an hour. Five minutes means five minutes if you have just been given five more minutes to watch the game before helping around the house.

Nothing

This is the calm before the storm. This means something is wrong, and you have to guess what it is. You only get one guess, and you do not get to ask what it is. You should be on your toes. Arguments that begin with “nothing” usually end in “fine”.

Go Ahead

This is a dare, not permission. Don’t do it! You have been warned.

Loud Sigh

This is actually not a word, but is a non-verbal statement often misunderstood by men. A loud sigh means she thinks you are an idiot and wonders why she is wasting her time standing here and arguing with you about “nothing”. Try: “I am sorry. How can I fix this?”

That's OK

This is one of the most dangerous statements she can make to a you. “That’s okay” means she wants to think long and hard before deciding how and when you will pay for your mistake.

Thanks

A woman is thanking you. Do not question it, or faint. Just say “you’re welcome”.

Thanks a lot

Warning! That is pure sarcasm and she is not thanking you at all. Whatever you do, do not say “you’re welcome”. That will bring on a “whatever”. Say: “I apologize. I should not have done that. How can I fix this?”

Whatever

Is a woman's way of saying “You have made a mistake and are too stupid to realize it. I shall find a way to explain this — and punish you for it — later.”

Don't worry about it, I will take care of it

Another dangerous statement, meaning this is something that she has told you to do several times, but is now doing herself. This will later result in you asking “What’s wrong?” For her response, refer to “Nothing”. Try “I should have done it earlier. Let me do it now.”