THOLIAN TK5 FRIGATE EXILE

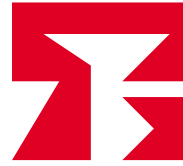

During one of the many Klingon raids into Tholian space, a Klingon F5 frigate was badly damaged. The crew escaped in the separated boom section, but the self-destruct system for the rear hull failed to function. The Tholians, always desperately short of new ships, took the rear hull into their shipyard and converted it (with the addition of sections of a PC hull) into a powerful ship which served in their fleet for many years.
